

Found Simple Remedy That Relieved Child

Mild Laxative Compound Corrects Stubborn Case Of Constipation

An important duty that develops on parents is the regulation of their children's bowels. Health in later life depends in large measure on early training and a child should be taught from infancy to regular habits.

When from any cause the bowel becomes congested with stomach waste a mild laxative should be employed to open up the passage gently and carry off the congested mass. A most effective remedy for this purpose is the combination of simple laxative herbs known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Mrs. W. D. Bulls, of Reed, Okla., used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for her baby boy, Harley Buren Bulls, and says "It did him more good than anything we have given him. His bowels are very stubborn about acting, but they act easily every time I give him Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin."

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin contains no opiate or narcotic drug and is a splendid remedy for children and older people as well. It has been on the market for more than twenty-five years and is the family standby in thousands of homes. Druggists everywhere sell it for fifty cents a bottle. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 464 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

BELTON SOCIAL

Mrs. Nora Jones, Mrs. E. B. Johnson, Mrs. Walter Dennis and Mrs. C. P. Jones of Elberton, Mrs. J. A. McDaniel and Mrs. J. T. West, were the guests of Mrs. Alice B. Latimer at a beautiful dinner party on Wednesday. Mrs. Latimer's home was most attractively decorated with spring flowers—Dorothy Perkins roses forming the centerpiece for the table. After a delightful day the Elberton guests left on the 5:35 car for Anderson en route home.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Blake, Mrs. W. D. Middleton, Mrs. W. C. Brown, Mr. Allen Cuthbert and Master Carroll Brown motored to Pelzer Thursday afternoon to see the matched game of tennis between Messrs. Hulan Campbell and Max Rice of Belton and Frank Pelzer and Bob Hayward of the Pelzer team. Belton won and of course, we feel justly proud of the fact. Mrs. J. T. West gave a splendid day party on Thursday. The guests were asked to bring their thimbles and were allowed to entertain themselves by working button-holes for the hostess. The house was decorated with daisies, a large bowl full forming the centerpiece for the dining table. The yards had been swept, the dogs tied and the children's faces washed and a fairly good dinner prepared, considering the weather and the hostess had a very pleasant day—seeing her work being done so quickly and well.

The guests who were conscripted on this hard-working and no-pay occasion were: Mesdames W. D. Middleton, Jas. A. McDaniel, Alice B. Latimer, W. C. Brown, Will Clinckscale, Jas. E. Harper, B. C. Frierson, Isa Brown, H. Reid, Sherard, L. D. Blake, and W. H. Trammell.

Some of the young people had planned a moonlight picnic for last Friday evening but instead of going to the river as planned they decided at the last moment on account of the increasing cloudiness to have an indoor affair. They had a most delightful evening in the school house auditorium where a delicious picnic supper was served.

Miss Janie Haynie has returned home from Landrum where she has been visiting Miss Ruth Geer visiting Mrs. Roy P. Whitlock.

"THE BATTLE CRY OF PEACE" WELL RECEIVED HERE

A new spectacular film production of the most ambitious character was presented at the Anderson theatre last night. It is "The Battle Cry of Peace," written by J. Stuart Blackton, owner of the Vitaphone company, and presented in ten reels.

"The Battle Cry of Peace," is founded on the war tract by Hudson Maxim which he called "Defenceless America." Hudson Maxim is a great believer in ample military preparedness of the United States, and is prominently identified with most, if not all, of the defense and preparedness associations that have come into being within the past year.

Following the lines of this essay in favor of military extension, Mr. Blackton has incorporated into the spectacular scenes in which two families are caught in the ferocity of invasion—a tale of romance upon which the military and naval arguments are strong. It is intended to show the unpreparedness of this country under invasion. New York City in flames was an illusion upon which Mr. Blackton has devoted considerable energy.

Charles Richman is the chief actor in the film, assisted by Joseph Kilgour, Thak Lawton, Lionel Graham, L. Roger Lytton, Telford Johnson, James Morrison, Harold Hubert, Mary Maurice, Belle Bruce, Lucille Hamilton, and other players.

The production is said to be strongly indorsed by the military and security leagues.

condemn the wrong, we are adding to break down the force of the public opinion of mankind in the support of justice, and righteousness, and with that we are helping to destroy the forces of peace and justice which prevent others from doing wrong towards us and thus serve to preserve our peace and safety."

Pointing out that the Canal Zone, Alaska and Islands must be defended, Col. Roosevelt called attention to the transportation of Russian troops from Eastern Siberia to France, and of the concentration of British, French and Australasian troops at the Dardanelles, as illustrations of the speed and safety with which great masses of soldiers can be moved great distances. The colonel again urged "the second navy of the world" and a regular army of 20,000 men with a proper reserve.

"Universal Service." "But the navy and the regular army are not enough," he continued. "I speak for universal service based on universal training. Universal service and universal training represent the only service and training a democracy should accept. It is the plain people, it is the farmers, the working men, the small business men, the professional men, who above all others should back up this plan."

"I have heard a good deal of talk about the officer class that we are getting from the volunteer training camps of the present day. As long as we do not have universal military service these camps offer the only chance for young men to prepare so as to serve the country. The man who goes to them renders a high and patriotic service and incidentally profits immensely by the training and experience. My sons have gone and are going to the camps. I believe in these camps with all my heart and soul. They are supplying by private initiative what our governmental representatives have not the foresight to provide for everybody. As long as our citizens do not insist upon everybody being trained, upon every one going to such camps, why the boys that do go to them will inevitably get the commissions if war comes."

"In other words, as long as our people do not make the training universal, and do not make it paid for by the commonwealth, only the men of means will be trained as officers at these camps. At present this is the only way to provide that, in the event of war, we shall have officers worth having. But such a system is fundamentally undemocratic. It is our own fault, the fault of our people, that we do not establish the really democratic system, for the only way to establish the democratic system is through universal service."

"I ask the plain people of the United States, I ask the farmers, the wage workers, the ordinary men, to give their sons the same chance that the sons of wealthier men have. Make the opportunity open to all; to your sons, to my sons, to all on an even basis. A system of universal training for universal service would be one of the biggest things ever done in this country to preserve our democratic institutions in spirit and in fact."

Col. Roosevelt again urged industrial preparedness. Alluding to his statement that "the time for flintlock theories of statecraft is past," he said this applied as much to industry as to national preparedness, and to corporations similarly equipped or enjoying international business. "The great business men must recognize more and more," he said, "that there must be full and frank cooperation between them and the government to secure public welfare."

The aim of the government should not be to destroy these units but, while encouraging them, to regulate them in the interests of the people as a whole. Col. Roosevelt asserted that "a protective tariff with the duties adjusted outside of national politics" was essential to the industrial world.

DRINK HOT WATER IF YOU DESIRE A ROSY COMPLEXION

Says we can't help but look better and feel better after an inside bath.

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before they are absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incandescent material in the form of ash, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not eliminated, form toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to such in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Men and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipated should begin this phosphate hot water drinking, and are assured of very pronounced results in one or two weeks.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as easy and hot water cleanses, purifies and freshens the skin on the outside, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the inside organs. We must always remember that internal sanitation is vastly more important than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.
